Tura, May 24: Tura MP Conrad K. Sangma and his brother and NPP leader James today laid the foundation stone of the PA Sangma International block at the University of Science and Technology Meghalaya (USTM) in Ri Bhoi district.

Addressing the gathering, Conrad said his father had put in concerted effort to expand and establish educational institutions in different parts of Meghalaya. "My father was a visionary man who wanted to nurture the young minds through education. I am very happy that USTM is one of the premier universities of Meghalaya spreading quality education in far-flung areas of the Northeast," he said.

He lauded the works and effort of USTM chancellor Mahbubul Hoque in making the institution the best private university in Meghalaya.

James said he was very honoured to lay the foundation stone of the PA Sangma international block because his father had always loved the teaching profession and now his name will be associated with USTM for generations to come.

James said he felt happy to come to USTM and meet the faculty and students and wished the university would carry forward the mission of spreading quality education in the future.

"It is a very emotional moment for me as P.A. Sangma, who was a mentor and well-wisher to ERD Foundation, the sponsor of USTM, had always extended his help and support in the expansion and development of the institution and visited us several times. Through this effort, we want to carry forward his name and vision for generations to come," said Hoque.

Union Minority Affairs Ministers Khan, Ering visit USTM

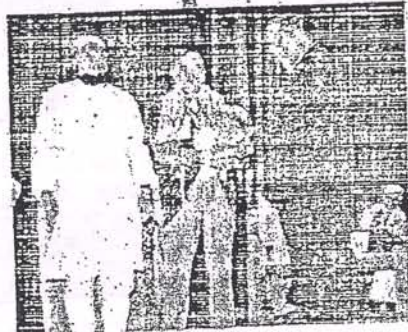

28 personalities from the minority community presented with Community Leadership Award 2013 by K Rahman Khan

CHRONICLE NEWS SERVICE

GUWAHATI: Twenty eight outstanding personalities from the minority community were handed over Community Leadership Award 2013 by K Rahman Khan, Union Minister for Minority Affairs at a glittering function at Srimanta Sankardev Kalakshetra in Guwahati on Tuesday evening. The event was organised by ERD Foundation, a city based education network.

Among the recipients of the Award were Dr MLA Rahman, a renowned doctor of Guwahati who has till date performed over 12,000 neuro surgeries which in itself is a record for the region and Dr Anwaruddin Choudhury IAS; known as the 'Birdman of Assam' for his research and published work in the field of wildlife preservation.

Speaking on the occasion, Khan said, "Muslims must be proud to be Indians and they must also realise that every Muslim in India is capable of pursuing the highest position in each walk of life." He lauded the lead taken by Mohbubul Hoque, Chairman ERDF, in this direction and said that Hoque's strides are in fulfilment of the dreams of two other great Indians - Maulana Abul Kalam Azad and APJ Abdul Kalam. On Wednesday morning, the Union

Minister, accompanied by the Union Minister of State for Minority Affairs, Ninging Ering visited the University of Science & Technology Meghalaya (USTM) and laid the foundation of Prof K Siddique Hasan Academic Block that would accommodate the School of Management Sciences of the University.

On this occasion, Khan reminded the gathering that education is the priority of the Union Government and it expects India to become the education hub of the whole world by the year 2020.

Khan further said, "It is easy to criticise the Government but it does not help. In 1947 we had a population of 30 crore but we did not have enough food for all of them. Our land remains constant. But today we are able to feed our 120 crore population and even export foodgrain. This one instance should be good enough to look for more such instances within our country and feel proud of that."
