The University has launched the Skill Development Centre for Jail inmates on October 22, 2016 at the Central Jail, Guwahati in collaboration with Nagen Sarma Memorial Society, Assam. This training centre is an idea with the aim to re-establish the concept that the jail should ideally be the place for reform. The inmates after being released need to live a life of dignity following the words of Gandhiji, 'hate the sin and not the sinner'. To help them to live a life without any social stigma, the released prisoners need to be economically productive. With this in mind and based on the experience of Nagen Sarma Memorial Society in "Gandhi VicharPrachar", USTM joined hands and launched "Skill Development Centre" for jail inmates in Gauhati Central Jail with two training centres, the Computer Training and Tailoring Centre.
