CALL 2021

Call: TECNIO SPRING 2021 DOGC 8160, 23/06/2020 - DOGC 8360, 09/03/2021
Proposal number: ACE026/21/000082
Modality: Incoming
Fellow: Nicholas BHATTACHARJEE
Entity: ZYMVOL BIOMODELING S.L.
Project title: Software development for biocatalytic process optimization

Abstract

The ENZIMMO-P project aims at: (1) Developing a software (ZYMEVOLVER-iMMO) for computationally guiding enzyme immobilization; (2) Applying it to obtain an efficient and stable immobilized peroxygenase (property of Gecco & ZYMVOL) for its industrial application. Enzyme immobilization is a key, yet unresolved, step in many of their industrial applications. It is highly pursued for improving enzyme's inherent properties and for making their exploitation cost effective. On another side, peroxygenases are highly demanded enzymes in the market for their ability to catalyze oxyfunctionalization without the need of expensive cofactors or protein partners; but they are not very stable. The ENZIMMO-P project is an applied research project addressing both of these issues and, thus, with immediate impact in the market. The project is perfectly aligned with the scientific background of the researcher, who will gain training in new techniques, soft skills and in a company's environment, all of this in close collaboration with industry.

Evaluation Summary Report

Criterion 1. Curriculum vitae of the researcher (weight 30%)

Strengths of the proposal

The academic studies of the researcher are correct and research experience is adequate. The researcher has relevant experience in staff training, teaching and student supervision. The mobility experience is adequate and supported by international and European experiences. The quality and novelty of the results of the research experience is high, supported by numerous publications. Other merits includes several grants and awards, and software and programming skills.

Weaknesses of the proposal

Recent mobility experience between academia and industry is not mentioned. The experience in technology transfer and management of research groups is not demonstrated.

The agreement template that follows is a complimentary document provided by ACCIÓ in the framework of the Tecnospring INDUSTRY programme. The purpose of this document is to facilitate the drafting of the agreement(s) or memorandum(s) of understanding between the Beneficiary and the host organisation in case of Mobility A and/or secondment. They are mandatory, as established in article 7.9 of the Tecnospring INDUSTRY Regulatory Bases:

"Additionally, for Mobility A: copy of the agreement or memorandum of understanding between the beneficiary institution and the institution acting as host for the researcher abroad, indicating the commitment of both institutions to carry out the project, as described in the application, including an agreement on intellectual property.

If the project envisages a secondment spent at another institution or with another company, a copy of the agreement or memorandum of understanding between the beneficiary institution and the institution where the researcher will spend this period, indicating the commitment of both institutions to carry out the project, as described in the application, including an agreement on intellectual property."

Please note that the present template is destined to be used as a structure to base the agreement on and does not provide any detailed content regarding the clauses. As this template is only indicative, it can be modified to be in accordance with the Beneficiary's specific rules. Nevertheless, we strongly recommend keeping the preamble (presentation of the parties, background and purpose) as it is, or at least not to remove anything as it contains all the mandatory information that the agreement must include to be validated by ACCIÓ.

Please also note that:

- Entity 1 refers to the host organisation,
- Entity 2 to the Tecnospring INDUSTRY Beneficiary
- Researcher to the Name SURNAME of the Researcher candidate
- Supervisor to the Name SURNAME of the Researcher's Supervisor at the host organisation.
